THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND
OUTSTANDING

Dear Parents,

Last week we didn't send out a newsletter on Friday, but we have an early newsletter which also has our monthly Online Safety Newsletter attached.

As we approach the middle of another remarkable half term, I wanted to take a moment to share some incredible achievements your children have made during our home learning projects. It brings me immense joy to commend their dedication, creativity, and profound understanding of various subjects.

Victorian Life: Your children dove deep into the pages of history and brought the Victorian era to life. They showed an impressive grasp of this period's intricacies, demonstrating their ability to research, analyse, and present historical information with accuracy and enthusiasm.

Maps (Y4), Volcanoes, and Rocks (Y3): Exploring the world through maps and delving into the fascinating world of geology, your children exhibited a genuine passion for earth sciences. Their geological findings and insightful volcano studies showcased their scientific curiosity and critical thinking. We also saw some amazing Kirkby Lonsdale related projects and impressive map work.

Transport: Our journey through the evolution of transportation was not only informative but also incredibly creative. Your children's models, drawings, and presentations highlighted their ability to connect historical context with technological advancements.

Superheroes: In the realm of imagination and creativity, your children unleashed their inner superheroes. Their superhero creations were not just visually stunning but also reflected their thoughtful consideration of qualities that make heroes, both real and fictional, inspiring figures.

India: Our exploration of India was a cultural odyssey, and your children approached it with a remarkable level of respect and curiosity. Their presentations, artwork, and discussions revealed a deep appreciation for the diverse culture, history, and traditions of India.

I want to express my gratitude for your active involvement and support during these projects.

Your guidance and encouragement have undoubtedly played a crucial role in nurturing your children's love for learning. It is clear that they have not only gained knowledge but have also developed valuable skills that will serve them well throughout their lives.

Thank you once again!

Parent Consultations

Since Covid-19 we, like many schools, have found that online meetings allow parents to juggle their busy lives and make it possible to talk from near and far with limited disruption. The challenge for us has been getting the right system to work and to ensure everyone accesses this.

We have discussed the issue with various schools locally and we have invested in a system which other schools find very useful. This should, we believe, help avoid parents searching for codes and wondering what appointment times they booked.

We believe everyone should be able to access this and we hope you will find the system easy to manage.

You will receive a letter very soon and to ensure everyone has chance to book and organise this, parent consultations will be in the first week back after half term. Booking go live next week (Wednesday at 5pm)
